

(Sri D. T. SEETARAMA RAO)

(b) whether the leakage of water through the repaired sluice has been stopped;

(c) the extent of land that could be irrigated, if another sluice is constructed on the left side of the tank?

A.—Sri H. K. VEERANNA GOWDH (Minister for Public Works and Electricity).—

(a) No.

(b) Yes; there is no leakage now.

(c) There are already two sluices to the tank which are since repaired and are in good condition now. Since there is no possibility of increasing the atchkat under the Tank, there is no necessity to construct another sluice.
